1. Our story

- 1.1. Peter Murray and his family set up Ormiston Trust in 1969, in memory of his sister Fiona Ormiston Murray. Ormiston Academies Trust (OAT) was then set up in 2009. We work, in her name, to provide the very best learning opportunities for young people.
- 1.2. OAT is one of the largest not-for-profit multi-academy trusts in England. Our aim as a charity, alongside our schools, is to help provide local children with a great education. We believe that removing barriers to learning will improve the life chances of children and young people. We want all those who pass through Ormiston academies, children, young people, staff, and visitors to care about how we can maximise potential through learning.
- 1.3. Our founding story and history provide us with three beliefs which guide our work:
 - Every child deserves the opportunity to thrive, regardless of their background.
 - We work where the challenge is greatest, and we embrace this challenge.
 - We have a broad and rich vision of education and are committed to providing the best learning experiences for every child both inside and outside the classroom.

2. OAT governance structures

2.1. Members

- 2.1.1. As a charitable company, OAT must have members. Members have a have a similar role to shareholders of a company limited by shares. Members hold the trust board to account for the effective governance of the trust but have minimal involvement in running the trust. Members are external to OAT and appointed by Ormiston Trust.
- 2.1.2. Members are essential to the integrity of an academy trust governance structure. There are some critical decisions that sit with the members; they must remain informed of trust performance and maintain a relationship with the trust board.

2.2. Trust board

- 2.2.1 The trust board has overall responsibility and ultimate decision-making authority for all the work of the trust. The trust board ensures that the trust complies with all legal and statutory requirements. Trustees appointed to the trust board are volunteers that have been appointed in line with OAT's Articles of Association. The CEO is also a trustee.

2.3. Board sub-committees

2.3.1. The trust board currently has four sub-committees, as set out below:

- Audit and risk committee
- Education committee
- Finance and resources committee
- Remuneration committee

2.3.2. The Audit and Risk, Education, and Finance and Resources sub-committees meet at least termly, and the Remuneration sub-committee meets at least annually.

2.4. OAT National Leadership Group (NLG)

2.4.1. The NLG is a group of employees responsible for the day-to-day running of the organisation, focusing on the education performance and operations of the academies. The NLG operate under the leadership and direction of the CEO, who is by virtue of position a trustee of the trust. The NLG works directly with central team staff, staff in each academy and local governing bodies to ensure that the required outcomes are achieved in accordance with the direction of vision of the trust board.

2.5. Education directors (EDs)

2.5.1. The trust board discharges management of the academies, strategic planning and line management of Principals and Senior Principals through the Chief Executive Officer and Education Directors (Secondary, Primary and Alternative Provision & Special)

2.5.2. The Education Directors are also there to develop and maintain strong relationships with the chairs of governors and clerks to the governing bodies

2.6. Local governing body (LGB)

2.6.1. Every academy has an LGB, or is part of a Joint LGB, and membership includes the principal, community, staff, and parent governor roles. The LGB is responsible for supporting the school and providing effective challenge around the strategic direction and performance of the academy within the framework and parameters set by the trust board.

2.7. Interim advisory board (IAB)

2.7.1. Where it is deemed that an LGB is not performing as it should, the trust board may implement an IAB in its place. The purpose of the IAB is to secure governance of the academy, developing a sound basis for improvement and will be in place until the trust board deems it appropriate. The NLG will implement partnership working with an IAB to determine priorities and set targets.

2.8. Principals

2.8.1. Responsible for delivering all educational and operational outcomes in their individual academy.

3. Decision-making framework

- 3.1. This document does not detail every legal responsibility of a MAT or every activity in the remit of individual stakeholders. Instead, it is concerned with the core activities that are conducted within each area of operational delivery and how they are coordinated between the various decision makers.
- 3.2. OAT believes that this model allows for strategic board decision-making and focused local governance. Flows of information and decision making are coordinated by the central governance team who oversee all governance, including clerking across the trust, and are embedded into the scheme of delegation, meeting cycles, and agenda planners. This ensures that trustees and governors work together to support meaningful improvement across the trust – and as governors spend less time on policies and paperwork, it means that they can spend more time understanding the specific needs of their school and adapt their activities accordingly. They are central to the focus on the academy’s values and ethos so that all students believe they can succeed.
- 3.3. LGBs also provide an especially important continuity of care role to the academy and as such are a continuing powerful advocate for their needs within the OAT family and for linking with their communities.
- 3.4. The overriding legal assumption that sits behind this work is that all OAT academies are governed by one trust and a single trust board. The trust board is an accountable body for legal purposes but can delegate many of its functions (for example to the CEO and NLG).
- 3.5. This framework does not dictate when responsibilities may be further delegated within sets of stakeholders – for example by a principal to other staff within the school, or the OAT Chief Executive Officer to other staff within the central team. Some regions operate with a Senior Principal/Head of School model.
- 3.6. There will be circumstances where the rules may change – for example in crisis situations, OAT central team may take on a much more involved role or stakeholders may go above and beyond the level of support that is articulated here – for example, the LGB may be engaged on a range of other aspects not explicitly referenced here.
- 3.7. The decision-making framework is reviewed on an annual basis in order to ensure that delegated responsibilities can be aligned with organisational need.

3.8 High level division of responsibilities

- 3.8.1. The following table sets out the responsibilities and decision-making authority in areas where it is important to define the role of different leaders across the Trust. It does not prescribe every activity in the remit of individual leaders.
- 3.8.2. Policies listed are indicative - a full list of policies is maintained by the central team and made available to all OAT staff via the staff intranet (OATnet). Key policies are accessible to other stakeholders (pupils, parents, governors etc.) via academy websites, the OAT Trust website or GovernorHub as appropriate.
